Dear Collectors

Welcome to a very different looking Impressions catalogue for this year. The Philatelic Team continue to listen to your needs and look at ways to make your selection and purchasing experience even better. The new format for this year gives you a closer look at products and what's included.

One of the most notable changes this year, based on customer feedback from 2016, will affect those taking part in our online limited edition registration of interest. The registration of interest is required for an opportunity to purchase from a select number of limited edition products. A change to how successful buyers can pay for these products means that once the final determination is made, those successful can purchase their product online and finalise their purchase immediately.

There are also even more limited editions in the range, making it even more exciting for collectors. As in other years, the range follows stamp themes covered throughout the year.

I hope you enjoy Impressions 2017!

AUSTRALIAN SHIPWRECKS COIN REPLICAS AND STAMP SET

On 1 August 1711 the VOC Zuytdorp was dispatched from the Netherlands. Its destination was the trading port of Batavia (now Jakarta, Indonesia). The ship was carrying a load of newly minted Zeeland Hoedjesschelling 6 stuivers silver coins struck in 1711.

The Zuytdorp never arrived in Batavia and no search was ever undertaken. The whereabouts of VOC Zuytdorp was not known until the 20th century when the wreck site was discovered on a remote part of the Western Australia coast between Kalbarri and Shark Bay. The ocean floor at the site resembled a "sea of silver" with most of the 250,000 coins sent on the vessel still laying with the wreck at the bottom of the ocean.

TRANS-AUSTRALIAN RAILWAY

This folder commemorates the centenary of the Trans-Australian railway between Port Augusta in South Australia and Kalbarri in Western Australia. Critically opened on 22 October 1917, the link facilitated communication and transport between the east and west of the vast Australian continent.

This collection contains one gilded and two gold perforated minisheets. All are individually numbered from 1 to 200 and all are exclusive to this folder. The gold minisheets are 24 carat, 99.99 per cent pure. To achieve the high level embossing, the gold is applied between sheets of clear acrylate before being trimmed to size and perforated by hand. One gold minisheet is overprinted in colour, the other is monochrome, in colour.

COMFORTABLE. MODERN TRAVEL. SAVE DAYS

In 2017, Queen Elizabeth II and Prince Philip, Duke of Edinburgh celebrate their platinum wedding anniversary, which marks 70 years since their marriage in Westminster Abbey on 20 November 1947.

Since the Queen acceded to the British throne in 1952, the Duke of Edinburgh has been her loyal companion. In September 1952, the Queen granted the Duke of Edinburgh precedence next to herself. In February 1957 declared him a Prince of the United Kingdom. In 2009, Prince Philip became the longest serving British consort.

Over seven decades, the royal couple has conducted a vast array of public engagements and royal visits, and both have served as patrons of numerous charities. They have four children, including the heir to the British throne, Charles, Prince of Wales, as well as eight grandchildren and five great-grandchildren.

This attractive presentation folder houses one gilded and perforated minisheet, which is numbered and limited to 200. The folder also includes a large minisheet with embossed silver foil between layers of acetate. Each minisheet contains the commemorative-sized international rate stamp issue. In honour of Queen's Birthday stamp issue, the stamp of their long-standing union, the stamp photograph shows the Queen and Prince Philip taking part in the Royal Procession at the annual racing event Royal Ascot.
