Dear Collectors

Welcome to the first edition of the Stamp Bulletin for the New Year, which introduces a range of forthcoming stamp issues. This edition also offers a preview of the full list of products to be released on 18 January to honour the 2018 Australian Legends Award recipients. The award coincides with official Australia Day celebrations.

This year we expect the Christmas Island Lunar New Year stamp issue, celebrating the Year of the Dog, to be particularly popular, as there are so many dog-lovers in the community. The $1 stamp will also be a P-stamp™ option for sending personalised Lunar New Year greetings to friends and family. The products with this stamp issue make a great gift for anyone born in the Year of the Dog.

In January, we release a stamp issue marking 150 years since convict transportation to Australia ceased. The stamp designs focus on key sites associated with this period of our history. Historical distance and reassessment of the past has meant that what was once considered a source of shame has now been embraced as part of our national story.

In mid-February the Banksias stamp issue presents a selection of these spectacular plants through the artwork of botanical artist Celia Rosser. Found in coastal areas, streetscapes and many backyards, these hardy plants are known for their bold flowers and dramatic foliage, which mean the banksia is often used as a feature plant in gardens.

The last stamp issue for the January–February period focuses on the sport of golf on Norfolk Island, enjoyed by tourists and locals alike. Also on the theme of sport, we look ahead to April, when all eyes will be on the Gold Coast as Australia hosts the 2018 Commonwealth Games. You'll find details of the first collectables we are releasing to mark this event on page 8.

I look forward to the year ahead in all matters stamps, and to presenting you with a range of interesting collectables associated with our Australian stamp issues.

The year 2018 is the Year of the Dog, the 11th sign in the zodiac cycle. The Year of the Dog begins on 16 February 2018 and ends on 4 February 2019. Those born under the Dog sign are known to be friendly and loving, as well as independent, sincere, intelligent and courageous. After all, it was a clever dog that escaped the Stingy God's chase, to successfully carry rice seeds across the river. This brave act restored this important source of food to the people.

In this issue, the zodiac sheetlet features graphic illustrations of each animal in the zodiac with its "precious flower". According to legend, when the Jade Emperor was selecting the animals of the Chinese Zodiac he also asked the Chinese Earth God to select a precious flower, as a way to bring harmony and good fortune to that animal sign.

Convict Past

CONVICT PAST

FIRST DAY OF ISSUE

16 JANUARY 2018

FREMANTLE WA 6160

This stamp issue commemorates the end of convict transportation to Australia, in 1868. Convict transportation began with the arrival of the First Fleet, in 1788, carrying 751 convicts from England. Eighty years later, the Hougoumont was the last convict ship to arrive here, delivering 279 prisoners to Fremantle, including 62 political prisoners following the 1867 Fenian Rising. The stamps represent this chapter of our past through the colonies of New South Wales, Van Diemen's Land (Tasmania) and Swan River (Western Australia).

The NSW Colony stamp shows Hyde Park Barracks, the first government-built convict barracks. Designed by former convict Francis Greenway, it opened in 1819 and was the principal depot for male convicts in NSW until 1848; transportation to NSW was abolished two years later. The design also shows a ticket of leave – earned for good behaviour – and a lithograph of a government jail gang.

Known as Van Diemen's Land until 1856, Tasmania was the place of incarceration for around 75,000 convicts until transportation was abolished there in 1853. Port Arthur, shown in the stamp with convict labourers, was originally designed as a timber station, but rapidly became significant to the convict system. It was a penal settlement for men from 1830 to 1877. The design also shows a graphic iteration of a convict love token.

Swan River Colony was set up as a free-settler colony in 1829, but 20 years later local authorities asked Britain to sanction penal transportation, believing convict labour was needed to develop the colony.

The Convict Establishment, shown in the stamp, was designed by Lieutenant Henry Wray and Captain Edmund Henderson, and built using convict labour.

Nearly 25,000 women were exiled to Australia during the transportation era, around half of which were sent to “female factories”.

These places of confinement essentially operated as textile factories or similar, the most well-known being Parramatta's female factory and Hobart's The Cascades. Free settlers could select domestic help – even a wife – from these penitentiaries, where life and conditions were harsh and punishments regularly meted out.

The stamps and minisheet in this issue feature Banksia speciosa, B. grossa, B. coccinea, B. cuneata and B. baxteri.

The striking genus Banksia (family Proteaceae) is a group of woody evergreens that ranges from prostrate shrubs to upright trees of up to 25 metres, with diverse foliage and large, complex flower heads. Each flower spike can comprise hundreds or even thousands of individual flowers, with Banksia grandis, for example, having up to 6,000. The genus comprises 173 species, and all but one – which extends to PNG and the Aru Islands – are endemic to Australia. Dryandras had been long treated as a separate genus to banksias, but recent research proves their evolutionary relationship, raising the number of species in the Banksia genus from 78 to 173.

This stamp issue features the illustrations of Celia Rosser, botanical artist at Monash University from 1974 to 1999, working on the university's Banksia Project. Her resulting watercolour-and-pencil artworks are now part of the university's collection, housed at Monash University Museum of Art.

One of the key events throughout the year is the Norfolk Island Veteran's Cup.

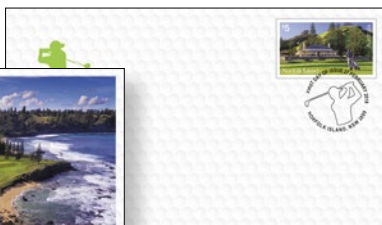

This issue showcases golf on Norfolk Island. The course and club are situated within the Kingston and Arthurs Vale Historic Area, a World Heritage-listed site.

Golf at this location is said to have first commenced in 1913, when Lottie Stephenson drove a golf ball down the first fairway on what was then called Elliot Links. The Norfolk Island Golf Club was established in 1927.

This issue showcases golf within the spectacular setting of Norfolk Island. With more than 90 active members, Norfolk Island Golf Club is one of the island's busiest sporting clubs. The course features Kikuyu fairways and 328 greens. Its position on the south-east side of the island provides challenging coastal breezes for those who play there.

Set up a standing order in 2018

Having a standing order makes collecting new Australian stamps simple, and it's also easy to set up. You can download the form from auspostcollectables.com.au and send it to the address above.

Planned withdrawal dates may be changed without notice to meet emergent postal requirements. Advice of such changes will be published retrospectively in the first available Stamp Bulletin Australia. All prices are GST inclusive and are recommended. Contact the Australian Philatelic Bureau (FREECALL 1800 331 794 within Australia, +61 3 9887 0033 overseas) or visit auspost.com.au/stamps for the current price at the time you place your order. Hours of operation are 8:30am to 5pm AEDST. The price of stamps and related products, souvenir items and numismatics are correct at the time of printing but are subject to change. The price of numismatic products is subject to valuation changes. All prices shown are GST inclusive where applicable and are recommended.
